

MOUNT AUBURN CEMETERY

A National Historic Landmark

Images & Captions Sheet

Mount Auburn Cemetery and the National Underground Railroad Network to Freedom

left: Monument for freedom-seeker
Peter Byus (1801? - 1867)

right: Monument for freedom-seeker Harriet Jacobs (1813 - 1897)

left: Detail, monument for freedom-seeker
Peter Byus (1801? - 1867)

right: Monument for abolitionist Rev.
Charles T. Torrey (1813 - 1846)

Monument for poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow (1807 - 1882), abolitionist and author of poems on slavery.

The Sphinx (1872), Mount Auburn's memorial to commemorate emancipation and the ending of the Civil War.

Photo Credit and Caption Information required for publication:

Image courtesy Mount Auburn Cemetery.

Photo credit and caption must accompany each print. Use of these images implies an agreement by the publisher to provide a tear sheet or copy of the publication in which the reproduction(s) appear. Images must not be cropped, flipped or altered in any way without explicit permission from Mount Auburn Cemetery.

Images are available for publicity purposes in conjunction with any publicity highlighting Mount Auburn's connections with the abolitionist movement and the Underground Railroad.

Please contact Mount Auburn Cemetery if you require a high resolution image for your publication.

Media contact:

Bree Harvey, Director of Education & Visitor Services, t: 617-607-1945, bharvey@mountauburn.org

MOUNT AUBURN CEMETERY

580 Mount Auburn Street | Cambridge, MA 02138 | t: 617-547-7105 | f: 617-876-4405
www.mountauburn.org